Thailand – Water and Sanitation Systems for Hill Tribes

SUPPORT RAISED

THAILAND

GOAL

This project seeks to raise $12,600 per village to provide 20 families with sanitation facilities

SUMMARY

This project will provide family bathrooms, training in hygiene and sanitation, family gardens and village training gardens. Installing toilets and keeping waste underground will avoid other contamination.

DESCRIPTION

The hill tribes in northern Thailand live in deep poverty without access to clean water or sanitation facilities. They are vulnerable to disease, hunger and the lure of oppressive systems like human trafficking. Many of the 2 million people in this region who die annually due to lack of clean water and sanitation are children.

It is anticipated that this project will improve village health, provide economic development through better crops and healthy livestock and introduce the love and compassion of Jesus Christ.
